SUGGESTS M. M. RURAL CREDITS

The Democratic Committee Hears Bank Examiner's Plan to Aid Farmers.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 24.—Rufus H. Carter, state bank examiner, today proposed to the Democratic central committee a plan for state rural credits and which the committee is investigating with a view to recommending its adoption to the next legislative session.

The plan provides for the issue of bonds by the state to secure funds which would be loaned to farmers who have proved up on their lands at one percent more than the interest on the bonds for terms of approximately nine years and would be payable in installments. A system of checks and safeguards is provided. The scheme, Carter says, would save the rural borrower six percent on his loan, state banks now charging 12 percent, with other fees added sometimes for abstract examinations and commissions.
